Florida Attorney General Bill McCollum received your email regarding Volusia County Department of Public Protection.

Attorney General McCollum issued the following statement on the Florida Supreme Court's order to convene a statewide grand jury on public corruption:

The Statewide Prosecutor will serve, by law, as the statewide grand jury's counsel. As mentioned in the above statement, our Statewide Prosecutor will work with the Florida Department of Law Enforcement and Florida's state attorneys to identify investigations and cases to bring before the statewide grand jury. I am forwarding your correspondence to the Statewide Prosecution Office for review. However, due to the confidential nature of investigations, the Statewide Prosecution Office is not at liberty to comment further. We will keep your concerns under advisement.

If you have not already done so, I also encourage you to convey your concerns to Governor Charlie Crist's Office at:
