

New Smyrna Beach Police Department
INTER-DEPARTMENTAL MEMORANDUM

To: Carol Hargy, HR Director
From: Cayla G. Bartolucci, Code Enforcement Administrative Specialist II
Date: 4/8/2019 Memo#: PD-0125
Subject: Bartolucci Official HR Complaint Regarding Harrassment & Defamation

Cc: Memo Archive (dbolinsky)

Dear Ms. Hargy,

For the past three months, I have been consistently bullied and publicly slandered by an individual in our community for performing my role here at the City of New Smyrna Beach and the situation is affecting me both professionally and personally.

It all began when I blocked a verbally abusive user named Cristina March from the Police Department's Twitter page for 2-3 hours after she consistently tagged the PD account with foul and inappropriate language in tweets about an ongoing issue I was not aware of at the time (a fence on Buck Lane).

In the moment, I honestly thought I had opted to mute her notifications (removing them only from our notifications feed) but I was quickly made aware by Ms. March that I had indeed blocked her. When I became aware she was blocked, I immediately unblocked her and notified my direct supervisor, Sergeant Robert Claudio, of the incident. I was informed that Ms. March was "always like that" and she was to be ignored.

From that day on, January 3, 2019, Ms. March has relentlessly and vulgarly attacked my character, my credibility, my morality, my physical appearance, my ethics, my professionalism, my intelligence and, as the evidence supplied with this statement clearly indicates, pretty much any sort of information she could find on me, she shared and twisted into false statements to slander me with—including things like images of me, the university where I obtained my Bachelor's degree, my home state, my professional experience, etc.

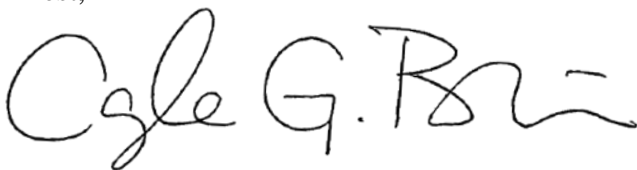

In addition to the screenshot evidence included, I am also providing a statement I made three weeks into the situation, on January 25, 2019, as it was my initial statement I provided to my superiors regarding my feelings after a particularly alarming statement of Ms. March stating she was looking for me at a recent community event.

All in all, this has been a very difficult situation and to sum it up quite simply, it has made me feel unsafe in my community, unsafe and threatened in my professional career and personally distressed and anxious in my day to day life. I find the entire ordeal to be emotionally upsetting and exhausting as well as professionally distracting.

In summary, I would like this situation to end. I am not sure what avenues or rights I have as a government employee but what is happening to me as a private citizen is wrong, unjust and has to stop. I am only six months into what I hope to be a long and healthy career with the City of New Smyrna Beach. I want to continue the work I have been given the opportunity to do and I would like to do so knowing that I am safe from personal attacks and libel.

I believe this situation is to a point where I really need the guidance and support of someone with your experience and knowledge and I thank you in advance for your time and attention to this issue. It is something I take very seriously and look forward to learning what options there are in regards to finding a resolution.

Best,

On January 3, 2018 between the hours of 12:15 p.m. and 2 p.m., I saw notifications on the New Smyrna Beach Police Department Twitter account that we were being tagged by a user named “C” or “@NSBinProgress.” These tweets used offensive language, defaming content and implied hostility.

From there, I investigated online who this person to verify it was indeed a real person and not a spambot/program. I chose to look this person up on the social platform LinkedIn as it’s a professional networking site and one that I have used in the past to verify a person or organization. ***

This is important to note as this is when she realizes I am the one who has been managing the PD social media recently. LinkedIn notifies its members of other members viewing their profile (for networking purposes) so Ms. March put two and two together to realize I am the “new social media person.”

After verifying the person in question was indeed an actual citizen, Cristina March, I attempted to “mute” her tags of the NSB PD twitter account due to her language and offensive content. An action that should simply remove her tweets from our notifications. Only instead of “muting” her, I had unknowingly blocked her.

At 2:33 p.m. the same day, Cristina March posted the following message on her Facebook account tagging the Police Department.

Around 3:35 p.m., I checked our social media accounts and saw the post from Ms. March. In all actuality, I hadn't realized I had blocked her so I immediately unblocked her and wrote my supervisor, Sergeant Robert Claudio. See below.

From: Bartolucci, Cayla
Sent: Thursday, January 03, 2019 3:35 PM
To: Claudio, Robert J
Subject: Ignore or Address?

I blocked her on Twitter and guess started a war. She was tagging us in foul-mouthed, degrading posts about the city and PD so I blocked her. Guess she's out for blood. Sorry.

Now she's calling us out on FB. She seems like a nut and we've done nothing wrong so figure we have options on how to address.

The screenshot shows a Facebook post from Cristina March, posted 51 minutes ago. The post text reads: "New Smyrna Beach Police Department, your social media person needs to remember she's not in high school anymore, and y'all just might catch some heat if you really want to begin blocking your own citizens. Protect and serve? ACLU of Florida ACLU Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington (CREW) Washington Post CNN Reuters Volusia County Sheriff's Office Mike Chitwood". Below the text is a video thumbnail showing a man in a police uniform speaking at a podium. Below the video is a news article snippet from WASHINGTONPOST.COM by Peter Hermann with the headline "D.C. police chief blocked some Twitter followers, calling posts 'cruel and nasty'".

I was informed by Sgt. Claudio that this person was a well-known issue to the city with a record of harassment to our department as well as others. He also instructed not to engage with her and recommended I unblock her as soon as possible and reinforced that this person does this from time to time. I informed Sgt. Claudio that I had immediately unblocked her when I saw the Facebook tag and apologized to my supervisor for this accidental misstep. At this point, I was relieved to know I wasn't the first or only attack this individual had made.

Throughout that first day, she continued to comment on her Facebook message, with her comment getting more agitated and personal. Please note that her account was unblocked by me around 3:35 p.m. but she continued to edit her comment hours later, adding a photo of me and talking directly to me now. I found this aggressive but remained silent and unengaged.

Understanding this is just part of social media these days, and moving forward, I did not take the insults personally and tried to find the humor in the situation as her posts were completely ridiculous. I had never actually interacted with this person—unless you count the accidental block for less than 4 hours. I simply continued to manage the NSB PD social media accounts professionally and appropriately.

Since January 3, 2019, the NSB PD Twitter has received harassing tweets daily, sometimes hourly, from Ms. March. As a whole, Ms. March attacks various city departments and officials in addition to the NSB PD and myself. I understand freedom of speech and the lack of ability to remove ourselves from her posts however it has begun to concern me that these tweets are still coming in 3 weeks later and are more and more personal to a point where I feel she is obsessing over my identity.

Each post directed to me seems to be escalating with more specific details about myself, my culture, my heritage and my career. I feel it is important to note that all my personal social media accounts are private and this information should not be easily searchable for someone who is not connected to me personally.

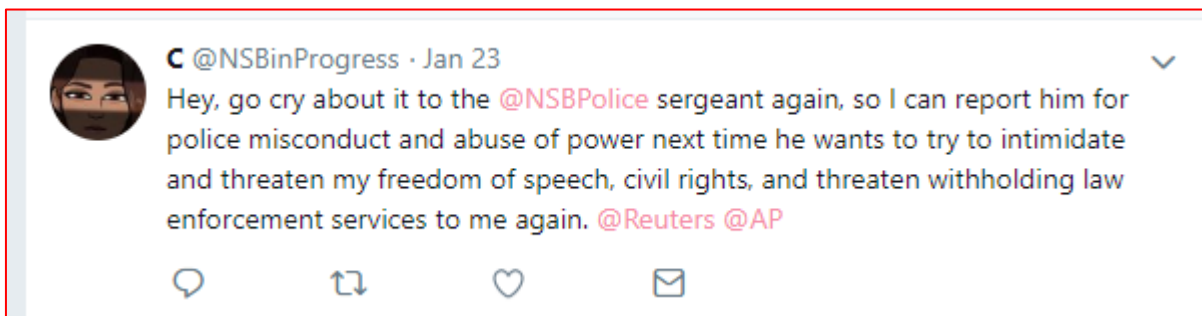

For reassurance, I spoke with my colleagues and Sergeant and I remained on task by ignoring her and pressing forward, writing it off as part of the role I accepted when I volunteered to help manage the social media accounts.

However, recently I found it especially concerning to see this post regarding the recent NSB MLK Jr. Parade. The hostile and foul language seems threatening to me.

By speaking of my whereabouts and shaming me for not attending an event (I was out of town), I felt a line had been crossed. I would say this was the first moment when my personal safety became an issue of concern for me in this whole ordeal. If she was now angry enough to be actively looking for me in public places, with a camera at that, would the next step be looking for me at my private residence?

The posts over the past 3 weeks have continued to grow increasingly more agitated and personal. The screenshots included in this document are ones that stand out specifically to me as red flags. I have provided a full account (to the best of my ability) of targeted tweets she has published that involve myself as well. These screenshots were taken January 24, 2019.

While I obviously hope she loses interest in me naturally, I can't help but feel bullied and attacked. I know this is a gray area as I am a public employee but am curious if there are any rights that can help protect me if the cyberstalking and bullying continue or worse, if the stalking and bullying come into real life and she seeks me out in public again.

This is the first time I have ever had to deal with anything like this so my actions are cautious but I do know I would like to be proactive in this unfortunate circumstance and avoid having to be put in a reactive moment if at all possible. I absolutely love the opportunity I have been given here at the Police Department and am so grateful. This incident is a real shame.

Hi, Cayla. I wasn't impressed with you violating my First Amendment rights as an employee of the City of NSB and NSBPD today, but if you have any questions, I hope someone explained it to you. If you want to stalk me more, I'm an open book. Please feel free to stick your foot into unethical and illegal territory again, or abuse your position at the police department again, etc. Holler. New Smyrna Beach Police Department

#DearWhitePeople,

Stop calling passionate/angry/detailed speech by brown & black people, "rants". You're stupid for that, & there's a good chance we're toning it down for the sake that most of you call us aggressive whenever we speak up about anything, anyway.

#ThankYou

Hi, my local city gov @CityofNSB and @NSBPolice don't understand how the fuck nuances of racism work, and are actively engaged in multiple levels of bias and discrimination, nor do they give a fuck about educating themselves on how they're racist.

Someone let the city manager (Pam Brangaccio) City of New Smyrna Beach and Jessica Paugh at New Smyrna Beach Police Department know what this means. They're so up their own ass, they have no idea how completely ignorant they sound to minorities when they speak and how fundamentally ignorant of culture and diversity they are. And that taking one or two or three REQUIRED diversity classes doesn't mean shit when you still sound like an idiot and completely miss the point of the classes so you can convince yourselves you sound like woke folk to brown and black people but you just look like a fucking asshole.

Hey Jessica, try to #PoliceMyTone in abuse of your position as Assistant Police Chief of NSBPD again. Would love to record you and Pam Brangaccio (City Manager) supporting you repeatedly doing so again. #FirstAmendmentRights #FreeSpeech ACLU of Florida #PoliceThePolice #CopWatch

The meeting video on the YouTube channel is missing half of the meeting. I know for a fact Ant Farm Media, Inc. recorded the whole thing. I would be very disappointed if this is an attempt by the city manager (noticeably and ironically absent) to purposely remove all of the public participation from being available.

NSB Diversity Issues

Good Morning Commissioners,

Regarding my previous email about racial inequity, especially within the City of New Smyrna Beach, I just wanted to pass on my feelings about my meeting with Pam this past week. I've had to put it off until now because I was extremely disappointed and honestly, angered by my experience with Pam. I will absolutely never meet with her alone in a conference room ever again...

Hi. I spoke at the commission meeting tonight and recommended the commission review the appointment of city manager as part of their city charter review WITH public testimony and input. Holla.

Just getting started. This is a city issue and a resident issue. We don't need a city manager whose very name makes every single person's immediate reaction to be an automatic physical cringe.

Me when white people in NSB perpetrating discrimination in New Smyrna Beach Police Department and City of New Smyrna Beach only want to discuss race with people of color by tone policing us and only if we can sell the idea of them (and then being ignored again LOL) not being asshole racists and racist sympathizers in a sweet way, like we already don't put up with enough shit.

Yeah, y'all can tone police your own damn selves. First Amendment rights, bitches.

All I have to say is if you give a fuck about race relations and diversity in this city and you don't say shit MORE THAN ONE TIME and only complain on the internet, you are part of the motherfucking problem of when this shit keeps happening here and why it's the way things are done. AND KNOW YOUR FUCKING RIGHTS, because apparently #NSBPD is in the habit of thinking anybody gives a fuck that they're cops and can intimidate your expression of speech.

A lot of fucking people had to suffer and die for your right to use your free speech rights and don't you dare let any fucking city officials or cops shut you up with their bullshit.

Hey, today, New Smyrna Beach Police Department JESSICA PAUGH Assistant Chief (or whatever, I got bored of you talking about yourself, honestly) states that she thinks ALL MILLENNIALS are lazy and don't want to work for what people are paying, and she can't understand why she can't recruit any millennials. Yes, this is the idiot who is super proud of herself for handpicking only the best white people because she can't find any brown or black ones that don't come with personal recommendations suitable to her dumb ass.

Um, bitch. Every millennial I know works their fucking ass off for peanuts on at least two jobs and a couple of side hustles, and now also raising families and being actively involved in their communities. But you're a dumb bitch on an ignorant power trip, so okay then.

MAYBE BECAUSE YOU REEK OF HATING MILLENNIALS AND IF I MET YOU ON AN INTERVIEW, I'D FUCKING BACKTRACK AND RUN TO LITERALLY ANY OTHER AGENCY BESIDES YOUR FASCIST ASS.

When I asked her about if they let people know about diversity as a selling point, she said they shouldn't have to do that. That somehow candidates searching for jobs literally anywhere else that isn't tinged with racist fucking undertones and absolutely fuckery should give enough of a fuck to put their lives on the line for a shitfuck law enforcement agency that hires fucking dickheads to publicly say they support hiring diversity. I mean, they've got like three African-American cops and that's like mind-fucking-blowingly an accomplishment for these fucking dickheads.

Maybe that one fucking Facebook class you took didn't teach you image on social media is literally EVERYTHING, but I can see how that would happen if your head is up your own ass in denial about the fact you fall on that racist asshole spectrum. Like seriously, someone needs to record the stupid shit you say one day.

So I just came out of my meeting with the city manager and a lady cop and we were supposed to talk about diversity and tokenism in City of New Smyrna Beach, and I LEFT THAT SHIT FEELING THE SAME WAY.

NOT ONLY THAT, they proceeded to tell me to not write mean things about that fucking idiot CAYLA at New Smyrna Beach Police Department. BITCH, YOU ARE IN THE WRONG JOB, you white tears cry baby fucking asshole. YOU ARE THE EPITOME OF UNDERQUALIFIED WHITE WOMEN CRYING AT THE DROP OF CRITICISM FOR SUCKING AT YOUR FUCKING JOB AND ONLY BEING THERE BECAUSE YOU'RE A SAFE BET FOR THE OTHER WHITE PEOPLE.

All I have to say is if you give a fuck about race relations and diversity in this city and you don't say shit MORE THAN ONE TIME and only complain on the internet, you are part of the motherfucking problem of when this shit keeps happening here and why it's the way things are done. AND KNOW YOUR FUCKING RIGHTS, because apparently #NSBPD is in the habit of thinking anybody gives a fuck that they're cops and can intimidate your expression of speech.

Hi Cristina

Code Enforcement is working on the Buck Land compliant and will respond directly to you with status.

Ms. Hargy, the current HR Manager has bought diversity training to NSB, and has no tolerance of any kind for unacceptable behavior.

I would like to ask you to come in and meet Ms. Hargy, with me this next week, so you can share your concerns directly, and see what the City has done with regards to diversity training.

I also welcome your input into the recruitment process, interview questions, for HR Manager, which would occur in May 2019.

Let Tammy know a good time next week, and I look forward to seeing you again.

Hey, today, New Smyrna Beach Police Department JESSICA PAUGH Assistant Chief (or whatever, I got bored of you talking about yourself, honestly) states that she thinks ALL MILLENNIALS are lazy and don't want to work for what people are paying, and she can't understand why she can't recruit any millennials. Yes, this is the idiot who is super proud of herself for handpicking only the best white people because she can't find any brown or black ones that don't come with personal recommendations suitable to her dumb ass.

If anybody has any issues with City of New Smyrna Beach, especially city management and don't feel comfortable bringing them up, send me a DM. We're publicizing problems and broken systems this year and you can remain anonymous. They're used to me barking at them now.

Shoutout to that narc Jessica Paugh from New Smyrna Beach Police Department who tried to get me to name names today. You're an asshole for that, and fuck if I drop any names to your seriously self-aggrandizing biased ass. Fuck off. Happy to name your name though, see how it feels.

The level of stupid I'm dealing with: New Smyrna Beach Police Department says they took one Facebook social media class and now they know everything about social media and how algorithms work.

Also, according to lady cop (Jessica Paugh) telling me what MY MINDSET IS says I'm only focused on minority issues. THANKS FOR THAT, white lady. You know what the fuck you're talking about, huh? You've had an entire lifetime of being in a brown or black body to know what the fuck the experience is, huh?

Also, according to white lady cop, she only hand picks THE BEST candidates for officer positions, which means considering there are maybe three African-American cops on the entire force, this bitch couldn't find more than three African-American cops, zero Hispanic cops, and zero any other race to meet her very high white standards.

This is what living in City of New Smyrna Beach is like.

But yeah, ONE CLASS AHAHHAHA EXPLAINS A LOT FAM

So I just came out of my meeting with the city manager and a lady cop and we were supposed to talk about diversity and tokenism in City of New Smyrna Beach, and I LEFT THAT SHIT FEELING THE SAME WAY.

NOT ONLY THAT, they proceeded to tell me to not write mean things about that fucking idiot CAYLA at New Smyrna Beach Police Department. BITCH, YOU ARE IN THE WRONG JOB, you white tears cry baby fucking asshole. YOU ARE THE EPITOME OF UNDERQUALIFIED WHITE WOMEN CRYING AT THE DROP OF CRITICISM FOR SUCKING AT YOUR FUCKING JOB AND ONLY BEING THERE BECAUSE YOU'RE A SAFE BET FOR THE OTHER WHITE PEOPLE.

All I have to say is if you give a fuck about race relations and diversity in this city and you don't say shit MORE THAN ONE TIME and only complain on the internet, you are part of the motherfucking problem of when this shit keeps happening here and why it's the way things are done. AND KNOW YOUR FUCKING RIGHTS, because apparently #NSBPD is in the habit of thinking anybody gives a fuck that they're cops and can intimidate your expression of speech.

A lot of fucking people had to suffer and die for your right to use your free speech rights and don't you dare let any fucking city officials or cops shut you up with their bullshit.

I may or may not angry post later, I'm still processing the level of fuckery I just endured for an hour.

FUN FACT: Code Enforcement in New Smyrna Beach falls under New Smyrna Beach Police Department.

Another fun fact: The Code Enforcement secretary and inherently the clerk is (Cayla) is an advertising major with ZERO educational background or qualifications for Code Enforcement.

Fun fact: She's white though, so NSB is into hiring under-qualified white people over sourcing more qualified people of basically any color. You just have to be like-able to our existing racist HR Director.

And that's how small institutionally segregated towns work until they stop doing it.

Hey @CityofNSB, let me know when we stop being the kind of city that hires and retains shitheads because there's nobody better around or they're grandfathered in.

Sincerely, all of your taxpayers and constituents ❤️

NSB Diversity Issues

CRISTINA EM · MONDAY, MARCH 25, 2019

Good Morning Commissioners,

Regarding my previous email about racial inequity, especially within the City of New Smyrna Beach, I just wanted to pass on my feelings about my meeting with Pam this past week. I've had to put it off until now because I was extremely disappointed and honestly, angered by my experience with Pam. I will absolutely never meet with her alone in a conference room ever again, for my own protection as I am now reinforced of the idea that she is manipulative and unable to conduct herself in a socially and ethically responsible way, and in the interest of self-care and not being gaslighted by her yet again, she is the exact kind of person of the highest position in this city that symbolizes a figure of mistrust for people of color and is a representation of the city as a whole in the perception of minorities here.

First of all, she blindsided me in the meeting by placing Jessica Paugh from the Police Department in the room with us and did not tell me ahead of time that she would be there, and that Ms. Hargy would not be present in the meeting. I felt cornered and completely disrespected. I also felt that Pam's attitude was condescending and she also again chastised me for my language on social media TWICE in this meeting with the support of Jessica Paugh, which has been a previous issue with her, notable the time she stopped the entire 2019 Planning Meeting in the Brannon Center in December to try to call me out in front of the panel for criticizing her on social media.

In any case, during the meeting, it was extremely evident to me that Pam was not there with the intention of digesting anything I had to say about race in the community, nor any of the concerns I brought up about testimony I had from people of color within the community, and notably from the historic Westside.

Mayor Owen, during Black History Month, you gave a very promising and moving speech at the Babe James Community Center about building bridges between the minority community and their experiences and perceptions of the City of New Smyrna Beach, and this meeting with Pam only reinforced my opinions that the city under Pam's leadership is extremely biased towards hiring white candidates over people of color. And after meeting with Jessica Paugh, I believe she is doing the same as well within the police department. I won't even get into her behavior, because I'd be writing an entire book about the experience, so I'll keep it limited to Pam.

Pam completely disregarded all of my concerns about racial inequity within the City of New Smyrna Beach. Further to the point, when I brought up that my most recent statistic that NSB has a minority population of 7% of the total population, she corrected me to say that it's probably even lower than that and declining rapidly. To which, I asked what she thought about that and what she plans to do as an administrator about that within the city departments, and she stated that it doesn't matter to her because it's representative of the community as a whole and there was no need to change anything.

After I could see we obviously weren't getting anywhere with her having even an inkling of empathy or an iota of cultural intelligence or sensitivity, we somehow ended up on the subject of the city's rapidly aging population and the sharp decrease in young adults and "Millennials", to which Jessica Paugh scoffed at the idea that all millennials are lazy and want something for nothing (beyond offensive), and that she herself had no idea how to recruit them. (Would probably help if the recruiter didn't philosophically hate millennials, but that's just my opinion).

I stated that again, this was also an issue of the complete lack of diversity in the City of New Smyrna Beach. That millennials are in fact looking to live and work in areas where diversity is appreciated, supported, and publicly supported by local governing bodies. To which when I asked Jessica Paugh and Pam if they intended to promote diversity publicly from the city's point of view, they both stated that it was not of interest to them, and that actually if recruits or candidates wanted to know about the city's diversity policy, it was the onus of the candidate or recruit to ASK what the policy is. To which I stated to Jessica and Pam, there is absolutely no incentive for recruits and candidates who have better job opportunities, amenities, and just about every other advantage in other cities THAT DO promote diversity, to even care enough to ask the City of New Smyrna Beach what their diversity policy, and that their attitude from what I could tell would turn me off from even giving NSB a second look. To which they both started to argue with me and Jessica proceeded to tell me that that's what I would think because I'm a minority and all I can see is minority issues, and which I promptly shut her down because she was out of line.

In any case, I will be bringing up issues of race and diversity in the City of New Smyrna Beach this year. I do think ethically and socially it would behoove NSB to begin to promote diversity in procedure and in management. While NSB is great to us because we all live here, there is no competitive advantage that I can tell for NSB in comparison to other competing cities at the moment, while we have a city manager who sees zero issues with the lack of diversity here, literally argued with me that there is no problem, and sees no value in screening HR management beyond just the required diversity classes and literally tried to gaslight me and intimidate me by having an officer in the room to basically make me feel like I'm crazy by relaying my and the shared experiences of other minorities in this community.

I also would like to remind the commission of one of the stated goals for 2019 of reviewing the city charter, that there be a provision that city managers have a mandatory review, if not even going so far as setting limits. I believe Pam is wrong for the future of this community, and I literally have yet to encounter a single citizen or business that would defend her. I believe her training and philosophy is both outdated and warped, and that the future of NSB under her leadership will see NSB decline in the coming years as I'm seeing zero efforts by city management to promote any sort of diversity, competitive advantages for the city, or any resources for younger generations to take root in the community. I will be actively seeking her removal this year as I am deeply disturbed by the fact that the only validation for her being in office is for her "connections", which is to say that NSB is literally settling for her because it's the easier path and not necessarily the right path. I have faith in all of you that as a commission, you all can do better, can bridge the gap after her departure and make your own connections, even hiring a much better, more capable city manager to make NSB a beacon and the model beach town that I want to be part of as a resident here.

She is going to have to retire eventually, and after reading about her ordeal in South Florida and being pushed out of there, the moment of choosing a new city manager is going to happen sooner or later, so either way, I'll look forward to that change in either case.

I do again want to reiterate that the selection of the new HR manager, now more so than ever, be someone who has experience in diversity and inclusion, and preferably someone that minorities working for the City of New Smyrna Beach will feel supported by. After meeting with Pam and Jessica, I have zero confidence that this will be a factor in their decision and that they will pick someone based on Pam's biases of someone that will "fall in line" with her at the detriment to minority staff.

I probably have more to say, but that's all I can think of for now. I am available for any questions, etc.

Thank you for reading this novel, and I hope everybody has a good week.

Tfw the idiot bitch at New Smyrna Beach Police Department repeatedly posts and trivializes quotes by black and brown people for completely unrelated dipshit purposes because she's a fucking asshole AND LITERALLY VIOLATED MINORITY CIVIL RIGHTS AND LAW AND WASN'T FIRED because New Smyrna Beach is apologist as fuck and doesn't give a fuck about minorities. Right, ASSISTANT POLICE CHIEF Jessica Paugh? Or is that me being a minority and my only lens is minority issues, like your dumb ass was stupid enough to say to me? Right.

Thanks for burying my official complaint and slapping that fucking bitch on the wrist. The only deescalation training you got must've been when it comes to protecting yourselves while also inflaming racial biases, and quietly subverting state and federal procedures, huh? Cact.us: Cops Are Class Traitors, U.S.

Also, you fuckers are the last ones to be telling people to educate themselves when you literally break laws to protect yourselves and you're ignorant as fuck in racial issues.

FINALLY, HEY CAYLA (ADMIN ASSISTANT II AND SOCIAL MEDIA BITCH OF NSBPD AND CITY OF NEW SMYRNA BEACH), THE BROWN AND BLACK PEOPLE YOU KEEP QUOTING FOR STUPID SHIT LIKE GOLF CARTS AND WHATEVER OTHER BULLSHIT IT IS YOU DO DIDN'T MAKE THOSE STATEMENTS FOR THAT. BROWN AND BLACK PEOPLE LITERALLY ENDURED VIOLENCE, OPPRESSION AND DEATH (STILL DO), NOT FOR YOUR WHITE ASS TO REPEATEDLY TRIVIALIZE THEM. 🙄
